GETTING MUCH HOTTER

The Senatorial Fight Is on In Earnest.

TALE OF A WELLSVILLE TRIP

Interested Parties Sought to Push Their Candidate, But Met With Cold Comfort Down the River—The Liveliest Battle of the Campaign.

A few weeks ago any unusual interest which might have clustered about the senatorial fight drew its principal inspiration from the doings of Belmont and Jefferson's politicians, and Columbiana county was only wondering how much support it could depend upon when it went into the convention. Now it is all changed. The average politician don't care a row of pins for what the other counties are doing, but he does care a great deal about the trend of sentiment in his own county, and all of them are guessing and guessing hard as to the probable outcome of what promises to be the hardest battle of the campaign.

The withdrawal from the lists of Brittain and Hutcheson, and the continued presence of Hon. A. H. McCoy, Joseph Marshall and W. V. Blake, caused at once a general lining up of strength. There was hurrying to and fro and the formation of plan after plan. Everybody was getting in line as soon as possible, and some of them pretended they were in to stay. However serious or playful they might have been in this determination, there was a general understanding that the Blake men were making a desperate effort to carry their candidate through to victory, and he would be supported regardless of any other name on the ticket. The story of that deal when the contest for treasurer narrowed down to a brace of candidates did not meet with popular approval, and there was a number of disappointments which spread not only through the city, but reached to Wellsville, and gathering strength, went out over the county. The Republicans of Columbiana are not filled with an enthusiastic admiration for deals, particularly of deals which are made by unpopular dealers and have something to do with unpopular candidates. They like a clear field and a fair fight for every man in the battle, with the victory for him who deserves it. Favors from inside sources are not relished by men who believe in equal right for every man.

Columbiana county is apportioned 95 delegates in the senatorial convention, and the Blake program is to secure 45 of them for that candidate. When the delegation caucuses to decide upon its official movements, a delegate, who has not yet been selected, will move that the entire delegation support the man who has the largest number of votes from Columbiana county. The motion will carry, and if the Blake men have been successful in their fight before the primaries, that will be the end of Marshall and McCoy. There is a possibility that they will become generous if they can see victory in sight; but if the contest is close, the names of the other candidates from this county will never appear in the convention. They will be shut out as completely as though they had never been, and the remainder of the district will not know them in an official way. It will be Blake from start to finish, with no other candidate given anything like a fighting chance.

The friends of the other candidates have no intention of permitting the performance of every number on the program. They have entered this contest with a determination to do anything but sacrifice themselves to the ambition of Blake and his friends. They are in the fight to stay, program or no program, and there are prospects that the desperate efforts against them will not be the beautifully pleasing success they now profess to believe. In connection with the fight comes a nice little story from Wellsville. A pair of Blake's friends had heard that the town down the river was not supporting their candidate, and they visited it. They called on a number of politicians, and pleaded the cause of their candidate, but their reception was chilly. Wellsville did not fall in with the program, nor give any assurance that Blake would get much more than a complimentary vote. As they moved from place to place the political atmosphere grew cold and bleak, and they returned to the city well knowing that electing a senator was not after all the easiest thing in the world.

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET.

The Membership Committee to Get Down to Work.

On Tuesday night, Feb. 16, the membership committee of the Young Men's Christian association will banquet at the Auditorium rooms, when a nice program will materialize, under the control of Prof. L. H. Harper. Short and spicy talks, along the line of the best way to make the association effective, and, under God, a mighty power for the rescuing and saving of young men, will also add to the interest of the occasion. Mr. W. H. Charles, the general secretary, bears the reputation of being an intelligent, indefatigable worker, and the indications are that, if backed by progressive and truly charitable citizens, East Liverpool will have occasion to be proud of her Young Men's Christian Association.

The Ladies Auxiliary will prepare the good things of life for the banquet to be given tomorrow night, and this assures a royal feast, as the workers in the Auxiliary never do things by halves. The members purpose making 1897 a red letter year. Success attend them in their noble work.

GOOD SERMONS.

They Were Heard In All the Churches Yesterday.

The beautiful weather of yesterday took many persons to the churches, and excellent sermons were delivered to large congregations.

There was a large representation of old soldiers at Auditorium hall on Sunday evening, deeply attentive listeners to the practical Christianity described by their comrade and friend, Rev. O. S. Reed, who believes that God's cause on earth is not losing ground, but that it is, under His infinite guidance, marching on to the great victory of victories.

The sermon of Reverend Holmes, of Beaver, on Sunday morning, at the First M. E. church, attracted earnest attention, and won favorable commendation. The text chosen was from the first verse of the eighteenth chapter of Luke: "And He spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint."

Rev. J. H. Shimp, of Pittsburg, delivered two excellent sermons at the Methodist Protestant church yesterday. The gentleman will preach every evening this week except Saturday.

Doctor Lee delivered an excellent sermon at the First Presbyterian church last night, his subject being "Who Are the Saved? Who Are the Lost?"

KIND WORDS.

Dr. N. W. Tracy Wishes to Be Remembered to All Friends.

Evangelist Tracy sends a letter to the NEWS REVIEW, in which he tells of the wonderful success the Master has been granting him since his departure from East Liverpool. Great crowds have been in attendance at the meetings, and hundreds were turned away nightly, unable to gain admission to the lecturer's entertainment. The evangelist sends kind regards to all the friends in East Liverpool, those who stood by him so nobly in the hour of trial and need. He asks God's blessing on one and all, friends and enemies. Surely this man Tracy bears the impress of the Master in his life and actions.

Talking to a lady resident of East Liverpool on Sunday, after her return from a point near Alliance, she said to the reporter: "I was absent from East Liverpool when Evangelist Tracy was here; but I had the pleasure of listening to his talk and witnessing his entertainment at Alliance, as he stood in front of a great audience, and I can truly say that I was delighted with the man and his work."

KING FOR CONGRESS.

The Youngstown Attorney Wants to Fill Taylor's Place.

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 15.—[Special.]—Judge Louis W. King will be a candidate for congress in the next Republican convention in this district. At the convention which nominated Congressman R. W. Taylor for his first term of office was made to secure the consent of Judge King to have his name presented, but as he had informed Mr. Taylor he would not be in the race, he refused to break his word, and declined to be a candidate. Mr. Taylor is now serving his second term. Political friends of Judge King assert that the services he has rendered the party on the stump, as a member of the state executive committee and in national politics, entitle him to recognition in the congressional nomination.

THE REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The Central Committee Will Decide Wednesday Evening.

The city Republican committee will meet Wednesday at city hall for the purpose of deciding the date of the primaries. A number of Republicans believe that March 20, the Saturday after the county primaries, is a good time. Others argue that five weeks is not long enough for a canvass, but as one business man put it, "Let's get it over as soon as possible. This town always did have too much politics."

G. C. MURPHY A POTTER

He Purchased John Mountford's Part in the Diamond.

DEAL CLOSED THIS AFTERNOON

It Will Be a Partnership, and Mr. Murphy Will Have Charge of the Office—Details of the Agreement—The New Firm Takes Hold at Once.

A deal was closed this afternoon by which George C. Murphy became possessed of a third interest in the Diamond pottery, Mr. Mountford retiring.

The details of the sale are not given out, but it is understood that the value of the property was placed at $50,000. Mr. Mountford agreed to sell his interest for $24,483 or purchase the share held by Ambrose Massey for $11,600. When this arrangement was not made Mr. Murphy decided to take a third interest in the concern, the other partners, Mr. Robinson and Mr. Massey, paying in a sufficient amount to bring their holdings to the same proportion. A conference was held this morning, Colonel Hill and Jason H. Brookes representing the different parties, and the agreement was reached, the papers being signed this afternoon.

The arrangement takes from the retail business of the city one of its best known and most progressive merchants, as Mr. Murphy has decided to sell his store as soon as he can find a purchaser. The new arrangement at the Diamond becomes operative at once, Mr. Murphy assuming charge of the office. Mr. Mountford has not yet decided on a location, but he will again enter pottery, and that before a great length of time.

FOR TWENTY HOURS

The City's Best Wheelmen Will Ride in the Ring.

A 20-hour bicycle race will be held at the Fifth street rink this week, commencing Saturday at 12 o'clock noon, continuing until midnight, and commencing Monday at noon, closing Monday evening.

The race will be held under the auspices of the Eclipse football club, and the winner will receive a diamond ring and the second man a gold watch. The well-known local men have announced their intention of entering, and the contest will be a spirited one. The turns in the rink are being banked today, and it will be open for practice tomorrow. All entries will be received by J. T. Herbert, and must be in before 8 o'clock Friday evening. It is known that York, Thomas, Bott, York, King, Holtzman and Frederick will enter.

BURGESS BOOMED BUSINESS.

The Sanitary Policeman Had a Plan When He Was Mayor.

They had been talking about the morality of the city and the lack of business at city hall, when Sanitary Policeman Burgess took the floor.

"There were periods of depression when I was mayor," he said, "and the office did not provide me a living. Then I called the boys together, and said, 'I am the beautiful words of Jesse James, that something had to be done, that I couldn't live on atmosphere alone. I always had the desired effect, and in a few days we had prisoners and fees at city hall. But you must remember Liverpool was a wicked town in those days.'"

A BIG SLIP.

It Threatens the Track Above Smith's Ferry.

A great slip threatens to cover the Cleveland and Pittsburg tracks a mile east of Smith's Ferry. The Minsinger orchard at this point just above the line, is gradually washing down, and to prevent a land slide a train load of employees were dispatched to the scene this morning. Piles will be driven to sustain the great bank of earth, and other precautions taken to prevent damage. Recent rains left the hillside in a very insecure condition, but it is believed the trouble can be averted.

COLLIDED WITH A DOG.

Mrs. Sarah Wilson Was Hurt When She Fell.

Mrs. Sarah Wilson, while going home last evening, collided with a large Newfoundland dog in West Market street, and was knocked down. In falling, her head struck a stone step, and she was rendered unconscious. She was picked up and carried to her home in Chestnut street, where she revived, and today is feeling no ill effects from her fall.

SALINEVILLE IS BUSY.

The Miners Are Working and the Pottery Has Started.

The Salineville miners are working steadier now than they have been for some time. The Strabley mine, a new shaft, will soon be operated and many now idle will be given employment. The electrical machines have proved a success, and preparations are being made to place more of them in the Slope mines. The operatives do not receive this news with pleasure, inasmuch as the machines save a great deal of labor and many will be thrown out of employment. The Standard pottery, which has been idle since last fall, will soon resume operations. About 50 hands are employed in the plant manufacturing stoneware.

TOOK AN OPTION.

Some One Wants to Buy Second Street Property.

Someone is anxious to secure the land owned by George Bucheit on Second street, and an option for 30 days has been taken. The property consists of the land on which the quarters of the Adams Express company stand, and a narrow strip extending from the western end of the depot to the river. Mr. Bucheit was offered $1,000 for the small piece but refused it. The parties desiring to purchase took an option on both pieces of land, but Mr. Bucheit refuses to give out their names or the probable basis on which the deal will be made.

NEWS OF THE RIVER.

The Sunday Boats Carried Big Cargoes but Were Late.

The Sunday packets carried large cargoes of freight, and arrived here late. The Kanawha put off a quantity of poles.

The Ben Hur will pass down at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the Keystone at 9 o'clock this evening. The Hudson is due up tomorrow morning. The Argand has not arrived yet but is expected daily.

The river is stationary, and there is an excellent boating stage. Several tons of coal passed down yesterday, and a few barges were left for local dealers.

HORWELL HAS AN IDEA.

He Would Let the People Settle the Franchise Question.

Councilman Horwell told a NEWS REVIEW reporter that he believed the best method of settling the Chester street railway franchise was through a vote of the people. A special election could be conducted at small expense, and the people could decide whether 10 or 25 years was the right duration for the grant. It would end the controversy, and Mr. Horwell believes the result would satisfy council and the company, no matter what the people might decide upon.

INTERRUPTED.

Burglars Were at Work When Fisher Interfered.

Saturday night two men broke into the carpenter shop of Martin Elliott, East End, and stole a brace and bit. Going from there to the saloon of Philip Rau they began boring through the door, when they were interrupted by Jay Fisher, who was on his way home. The thieves ran, but Fisher thinks he would be able to recognize them again. In running the men dropped an unusually large monkey wrench and chisel which they had probably stolen.

THE LOWEST BIDDER

Should Do All the Hauling For the City.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—The teamsters of the city should be given an opportunity to bid on work, and it should be let to the lowest bidder. Instead of that, in some departments of the city, the work is given out without giving the public a chance. In departments where hauling is done, and the city has no horses, it should be let to the lowest bidder.

A TEAMSTER.

Arrested a Drunk.

A lad rushed breathlessly into the fire station yesterday afternoon, and asked that an officer be sent to the Mullen residence, near the ice plant, at once. Patrolmen McMillan and Bryan accompanied the wagon to the spot, and arrested James Mullen, who was hopelessly drunk. He was taken to city hall.

Gymnastics.

Those who have been attending the gymnasium connected with the Young Men's Christian association are loud in their praise of the institution, and claim they have benefited greatly thereby. Homer Morris is a splendid instructor, and is the right man for the place.

Lost His Money.

It is said that a well known potter went to Wellsville Saturday night, got very drunk, and was relieved of his pocketbook and watch. He only had a few dollars in change, but the watch was valued as a present.

MR. TEST IS OUT OF IT

Charley Smith Has the Field to Himself.

ONE CANDIDATE FOR TREASURER

The Unusual Conditions Surrounding the County Campaign Appear In Another Withdrawal—It Was Not Unexpected by the Politicians.

What some Republicans have wanted and what they believed would take place has come to pass, and Charley Smith, of Columbiana, is the only candidate for treasurer.

Parties in touch with county politics have believed for several days that J. R. Test, of Salem, would withdraw, and today that gentleman gave out this statement:

To my friends and the Republican party in general:

I desire to say that owing to sickness in my family for six weeks, which has required my presence during the greater part of that time in the sick room at my home, and the fact that I have had until within the past few days a competitor from my own city who was an aspirant for the office for which I was a candidate, has seriously interfered with the perfecting of an organization at home of such a character as I thought necessary to place me before the Republicans of Columbiana county as I had hoped for, and which I think I could otherwise have done viz., practically the undivided support of my own city. Being also handicapped by an unusually short time in which to make a canvass, and the fact that the primary will be held under different conditions than heretofore, I have decided not to be a candidate at the Republican primary March 13, for the office of county treasurer, and have authorized the secretary of the Republican committee to withdraw my name. To my friends, who so kindly promised their support, I am indeed thankful, and have nothing but the friendliest of feelings for the party throughout the county. Very truly,
JOHN R. TEST.

TAKEN TO PITTSBURG.

Dr. F. M. Laughlin Suddenly Became Violent.

Dr. F. M. Laughlin was taken to the West Penn hospital at noon suffering from acute mania. The gentleman has lost a great deal of sleep during the past few weeks, and this morning became very violent. Dr. Robert Laughlin, his brother, was summoned at once from Steubenville, and it was decided to place the doctor where he could receive the best attention. Doctor Laughlin will remain with him at the hospital.

Doctor Laughlin this morning rushed from his office, and taking a stand in the Diamond began to shout at the top of his voice. Friends succeeded in returning him to his home. At the station he became violent, and the efforts of several men were required to quiet him. Chief Johnson and Officer Burgess accompanied him to Pittsburg.

The many friends of Doctor Laughlin are deeply pained to hear of his misfortune, and the earnest hope is expressed that he will soon recover.

Working at Night.

The decorating department at the Knowles pottery will work every night for the next pay.

The decorators at the Union are working at night, and will continue to do so for some time.

Entertained.

Master Kenneth Bulger entertained a number of his young friends, this afternoon, at his home on Sixth street. He was two years old today, and the event was celebrated in a fitting manner.

Called by a Telegram.

Rev. Dr. Patrick Farrell and sister, Miss Mary, of Cleveland, arrived home this morning. They were called here by a telegram announcing the serious illness of their sister, Miss Grace.

Wants to Sell.

The assignee of the estate of Mrs. Sadie Smith has filed a petition in Franklin county seeking to sell her property in this city.

Died in Pittsburg.

Mrs. Fondersmith, who moved to Pittsburg from this city about a year ago, died at that place recently of dropsy.

The Daughter Died.

The little daughter of Mrs. Curt Welch died last evening at her home on Seventh street, after a lingering illness.

A Board Meeting.

The board of education will meet in regular session this evening. There is nothing important to be considered.

Someone is anxious to secure the land owned by George Bucheit on Second street, and an option for 30 days has been taken. The property consists of the land on which the quarters of the Adams Express company stand, and a narrow strip extending from the western end of the depot to the river. Mr. Bucheit was offered $1,000 for the small piece but refused it. The parties desiring to purchase took an option on both pieces of land, but Mr. Bucheit refuses to give out their names or the probable basis on which the deal will be made.

NEWS OF THE RIVER.

The Sunday Boats Carried Big Cargoes but Were Late.

The Sunday packets carried large cargoes of freight, and arrived here late. The Kanawha put off a quantity of poles.

The Ben Har will pass down at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the Keystone at 9 o'clock this evening. The Hudson is due up tomorrow morning. The Argand has not arrived yet but is expected daily.

The river is stationary, and there is an excellent boating stage. Several tons of coal passed down yesterday, and a few barges were left for local dealers.

HORWELL HAS AN IDEA.

He Would Let the People Settle the Franchise Question.

Councilman Horwell told a NEWS REVIEW reporter that he believed the best method of settling the Chester street railway franchise was through a vote of the people. A special election could be conducted at small expense, and the people could decide whether 10 or 25 years was the right duration for the grant. It would end the controversy, and Mr. Horwell believes the result would satisfy council and the company, no matter what the people might decide upon.

INTERRUPTED.

Burglars Were at Work When Fisher Interrupted.

Saturday night two men broke into the carpenter shop of Martin Elliott, East End, and stole a brace and bit. Going from there to the saloon of Philip Rau they began boring through the door, when they were interrupted by Jay Fisher, who was on his way home. The thieves ran, but Fisher thinks he would be able to recognize them again. In running the men dropped an unusually large monkey wrench and chisel which they had probably stolen.

THE LOWEST BIDDER

Should Do All the Hauling For the City.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—The teamsters of the city should be given an opportunity to bid on work, and it should be let to the lowest bidder. Instead of that, in some departments of the city, the work is given out without giving the public a chance. In departments where hauling is done, and the city has no horses, it should be let to the lowest bidder.

A TEAMSTER.

Arrested a Drunk.

A lad rushed breathlessly into the fire station yesterday afternoon, and asked that an officer be sent to the Mullen residence, near the ice plant, at once. Patrolmen McMillan and Bryan accompanied the wagon to the spot, and arrested James Mullen, who was hopelessly drunk. He was taken to city hall.

Gymnastics.

Those who have been attending the gymnastics connected with the Young Men's Christian association are loud in their praise of the institution, and claim they have been benefited greatly thereby. Homer Morris is a splendid instructor, and is the right man for the place.

Lost His Money.

It is said that a well known potter went to Wellsville Saturday night, got very drunk, and was relieved of his pocketbook and watch. He only had a few dollars in change, but the watch was valued as a present.

MR. TEST IS OUT OF IT

Charley Smith Has the Field to Himself.

ONE CANDIDATE FOR TREASURER

The Unusual Conditions Surrounding the County Campaign Appear In Another Withdrawal—It Was Not Unexpected by the Politicians.

What some Republicans have wanted and what they believed would take place has come to pass, and Charley Smith, of Columbiana, is the only candidate for treasurer.

Parties in touch with county politics have believed for several days that J. R. Test, of Salem, would withdraw, and today that gentleman gave out this statement:

To my friends and the Republican party in general:

I desire to say that owing to sickness in my family for six weeks, which has required my presence during the greater part of that time in the sick room at my home, and the fact that I have had until within the past few days a competitor from my own city who was an aspirant for the office for which I was a candidate, has seriously interfered with the perfecting of an organization at home of such a character as I thought necessary to place me before the Republicans of Columbiana county as I had hoped for, and which I think I could otherwise have done viz., practically the undivided support of my own city. Being also handicapped by an unusually short time in which to make a canvass, and the fact that the primary will be had under different conditions than heretofore, I have decided not to be a candidate for the office of county treasurer, and have authorized the secretary of the Republican committee to withdraw my name. To my friends, who so kindly promised their support, I am indeed thankful, and have nothing but the friendliest of feelings for the party throughout the county.

Very truly,
JOHN R. TEST.

TAKEN TO PITTSBURG.

Dr. F. M. Laughlin Suddenly Became Violent.

Dr. F. M. Laughlin was taken to the West Penn hospital at noon suffering from acute mania. The gentleman has lost a great deal of sleep during the past few weeks, and this morning became very violent. Dr. Robert Laughlin, his brother, was summoned at once from Steubenville, and it was decided to place the doctor where he could receive the best attention. Doctor Laughlin will remain with him at the hospital.

Doctor Laughlin this morning rushed from his office, and taking a stand in the Diamond began to shout at the top of his voice. Friends succeeded in returning him to his home. At the station he became violent, and the efforts of several men were required to quiet him. Chief Johnson and Officer Burgess accompanied him to Pittsburg.

The many friends of Doctor Laughlin are deeply pained to hear of his misfortune, and the earnest hope is expressed that he will soon recover.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, FEB. 15.

The gold Democrats and silver Democrats are still fighting over that old
bone which might well be labeled Democracy. Better let it alone, boys, it's not worth the effort.

A LOT of people are predicting disaster of almost every imaginable stripe when McKinley is president, but they belong to that party of croakers who would not be comfortable if they could not feel miserable.

THERE may be a few months of
deficit after this one, but it will end
with the collection of duties under the new tariff law. The Republicans are preparing to put the balance on the right side of the ledger.

A MOVEMENT is on foot looking to the organization of county boards of health throughout the state. If they can be made of as much service to the public
as the local boards there should be no
delay in their formation.

THE possibilities of a live newspaper
were clearly shown by the Pittsburgh Post. Its plant and building a pile of rains yesterday morning it appeared this morning, somewhat changed, but as silvery and as bright as ever.

THE question of merit in council was never more in need of a thorough discussion than it is at present. The places to be filled next year should be filled by men who have the ability to fill them
well, and it all depends on the voters.

CONGRESS seems to be spending the time very pleasantly during these dying
days of the Cleveland administration,
and congress is not alone in its pleasure.
The country at large views the approaching dissolution with no little satisfaction.

WHILE there are some differences
among Ohio leaders as to the senatorship, it can be stated as pure truth that the Republicans will stand shoulder to shoulder in the next campaign, and our Democratic friends will be whipped as cheerfully and as completely as they were ever whipped before.

IT CAN'T HURT HANNA.

The ridiculous charge that Major Mc-Kinley carried Ohio at the late election
only because Mr. Hanna had concocted
and carried out a series of fraudulent schemes that would put any other man
in the penitentiary for the remainder of his days, will not hurt Mr. Hanna in his campaign for the place to be filled in the senate by the next legislature.
The brainy chairman was guilty of no
fraud, and the people know it. John P.
Altgeld gave the story birth at a banquet given in his honor at Chicago, and nothing has ever been produced to show
that it was anything more than one of those silly vaporings for which Altgeld
has long been notorious. Those Democrats in this state who pretend to believe it know well that it is a lie of the plainest and simplest kind. They were here during the campaign and on election day, yet they had nothing to say
until the Chicago pardoner gave them
the cue. Had they known or even suspected, may had they thought of it, the state would have rung with the libelous
story long before it could have reached the ears of Altgeld. They themselves give it the lie by their silence until the present. Everybody in Ohio knows the campaign was honestly fought and the election legally conducted. Ohio did not want Bryan and it did want McKinley, and to attempt to prove that Mr.
Hanna was guilty of fraud in the hope
of injuring his chances for the senate is
to show that the fool killer could find his time well occupied if he dropped into
this state for a few days.

MARCH 4 IS NEAR.

Inauguration Day Is Just Two Weeks From Thursday.

ARRANGEMENTS ABOUT COMPLETE.

The Ball Expected to Be a Grand Affair.
Indications That the Parade Will Be Immense—Decorations Promise to Be Unusually Attractive.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The arrangements for the inauguration of President-elect McKinley two weeks from next Thursday are rapidly nearing completion, and the indications are that in point of brilliancy and attractiveness
the ceremonies, the decorations and the festivities incident to inauguration
week will be more lavish than those of former years. In the decorations of the ballroom finer results are expected
than ever before. All spectacular effects will be avoided and a more artistic
and harmonious arrangement of flowers,
lights and bunting will be secured.
About $13,000 will be spent by the inaugural committee in decorating the main ball room and the private rooms
set apart for the use of the presidential and vice presidential parties. The great height of the court of the pension
building, where the ball will be held,
will be overcome by bunting festooned
from the center of each of the three divisions of the court to the top of the second gallery. The bare walls everywhere and all of the smaller pillars will be covered with bunting as a background for the flowers and greens,
which will be the prominent features of the decorations.

The bunting and thousands of tiny
electric fairy lamps will be used principally to bring out in greater relief the floral designs. The president and vice president with their families will attend the ball and will be in charge of a reception committee, of which Major General Nelson A. Miles is the chairman. The cost of tickets to the ball
has been fixed at $5 for each person and $1 extra if supper is desired. In answer to many inquiries received at headquarters it may be stated that no invitations
to the ball are necessary to secure tickets and none are issued except to foreign ministers. Tickets are now on sale
and may be had by anyone at the price named. The promenade concert will consist of six selections and the dance programs contain 33 numbers. The ball will be held on Thursday night and in addition a series of five inaugural grand
concerts will be given in the ballroom
on the following Friday and Saturday.
The ball decorations will remain in place. The first concert will be given at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning in honor of the United States army, represented
by General Miles and staff.

At this concert the Republican Glee club of Columbus, O., will sing a number of patriotic airs. At 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon a concert will be given in honor of the United States

navy, represented by Rear Admirals Walker and Ramsey, and at night the concert will be given in honor of the states of the Union, represented by the governors of the states and their staffs.
The concert Saturday afternoon will be in honor of congress, represented by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house. The last concert, Saturday night, will be in honor of the people of the United States and will consist of music by the Twenty-second regiment band and a chorus of 500
voices. Admission to each concert will be 50 cents.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Pennsylvania National Guard finds it impossible to attend the inauguration,
the probabilities are that the parade
will be very large. General Horace Porter of New York, with the members of his staff, is busy with the details of arranging the divisions. General Porter will act as grand marshal and will have as his chief of staff Mr. A. Noel Blakeman of New York city, Colonel M. C.
Corbin of the United States army as adjutant general, and Captain John A.
Johnston of the United States army as chief of aides, with Captain William Edward Horton of the D. C. N. G. special aid and military secretary.

The parade will be organized in two grand divisions, one civic and the other military. General Greenville M. Dodge will be chief marshal of the first grand division, to be composed of military organizations. He will have as his chief of staff General Heidecker of New York, and Colonel Joseph P. Sanger of the United States army, adjutant general. This military grand division will be subdivided into three separate divisions. The first division will be organized into two brigades, the first comprising United States troops as well as the naval battalions. This first brigade will be commanded by Major General Wesley Merritt of the United States army. The second brigade will be composed of the national guard of the District of Columbia, 1,500 strong,
and the Washington High School
cadets, 400 strong, all under the command of General Cecil Clay of the District of Columbia national guard. The second division of the military grand division will be composed of the national guards of the various states, headed respectively by the governor and staff of each state and arranged in order from front to rear in the order in which the states entered the Union.

The third division of the military grand
division will be composed of all veteran organizations, including the Grand Army of the Republic, the Loyal Legion, the Medal of Honor Legion, the Union Veterans Union, the Union Veteran Legion, the Regular Army and Navy Union, etc. This third division will be commanded by General O. O.
Howard of the United States army,
General S. G. Burdette, past commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, as his chief of staff.

The civic grand division will be commanded by Mr. B. H. Warner of the city of Washington as chief marshal
and will be made up of civic clubs of all descriptions. Prominent in this grand division will be the Republican National League of which Mr. D. D.
Woodmansee of Cincinnati, its president, will act as marshal. It is estimated that there will be from 40,000
to 50,000 people in the parade, and in order
to move so vast an army in the space of time allowed they will be so formed

that they can be marched past a given
point at the rate of 12,000 an hour.
Conspicuous among the civic organizations will be the delegation of about 200 students from the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa. Governor Bushnell of Ohio will command a military division. The United States regular troops of the military grand division will be composed of one battalion of engineers
from Willets Point, N. Y.; two regiments of infantry, the Seventeenth from Columbus barracks, and the Ninth from Sacketts Harbor, one regiment of cavalry, four troops from Fort Meyer and four from Fort Ethan Allen, 12 batteries of heavy artillery marching
as infantry and two light batteries.
The national guard of the states will be represented in the parade by several regiments and independent commands.
A large number of separate companies
also are expected to be present.

The parade will start from the east
front of the Capitol and will march west along Pennsylvania avenue, past
the president's reviewing stand in front of the White House, to Washington
Circle, returning on K street to Mount Vernon square, where it will disband.
The decorations of the city promise to be unusually attractive. The reviewing stands for the first time will be decorated by the inaugural committee, and will be in accordance with a general design furnished by the floral exchange of Philadelphia. The president's reviewing stand will be exceptionally fine, the design for it having been selected from a large number received in answer to an offer of a prize for the best. Colonel Wright of the public comfort committee reports that the applications for quarters are rapidly increasing, and
every indication points to a large crowd.
Nevertheless, Colonel Wright says there are good accommodations for all who may come, and at reasonable rates.

MORE TIME DEMANDED

Teller Defends the Blockers of the Treaty.

TOO IMPORTANT TO RUSH THROUGH

He Says the Executive Department Spent Nearly Four Years Framing and Negotiating the Treaty—This Senate Should Also Be Deliberate—His Views.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senator
Teller, when asked to furnish a statement of the reasons for seeking a postponement of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty, prepared the following article:

"There has been a good deal of criticism of the senate because it does not at once ratify the treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain by those who apparently forget that the executive department has been
about four years negotiating it.

"By the constitution of the United States the senate is made a part of the treaty-making power. The fathers of the republic, jealous of the executive power, were not willing that the president should negotiate treaties alone, so they provided that the president 'shall have power by the advice and consent
of the senate to make treaties, provided
two-thirds of the senators present concur.' The treaty, then, is the act of the president and the senate.

"It is quite apparent that it was not intended that the action of the senate
should be a mere perfunctory duty
and that the requirement of a two-thirds majority was inserted because
the framers of the constitution were impressed with the importance of treaty making.

"The senate being a part of the power
which creates treaties, it cannot rid itself of the responsibility of seeing that they are properly made. It is as incumbent upon us to give treaties consideration as upon the executive to do
so. We heard no complaint of the delay on the part of the executive department, but no sooner did the treaty reach
the senate than there was a demand for immediate action by the senate.

"The senate, being charged with this duty of advising in the construction of a treaty, cannot transfer that duty to the president or anyone else.

"The friends of the treaty in the senate all admit that it must be amended,
and the committee on foreign relations
has recommended certain amendments
which will, without doubt, be adopted.
But what will be the condition of the treaty if the friends of it do not agree
as to the purpose of the proposed amendments?

"Some of them assert that each con-troverted question for consideration by the arbitrators must be acted on by the senate and the house of representatives
before the question can go before the arbitration tribunal. If this view is correct we will be required to make a new treaty or agreement on each question as it arises, and have the assent,

not of the senate alone, but of the house
also, and instead of having removed causes of disagreement and friction between the two governments, it will be found we have multiplied the causes of dispute and delayed the determination of controverted questions.

"If the treaty does not require action
on the part of congress, as some contend it does not, then we are leaving
the question whether the subject of controversy shall be arbitrated or not to the president alone. It is true we put limitations of an indefinite character
on the executive in providing for arbitration, but we assumed that the president would not abuse the power
of promoting the cause of arbitration
does not affect that policy he cannot be held responsible for his act if he makes a mistake.

"Why should we not make this treaty definite—exact? Why should we leave so important a question as to who has the power of submission on our part in doubt? If we attempt to do so we must submit a question to arbitration
through the agency of congress, and Great Britain thinks it ought to have been submitted through and by the president, we create friction not only among our own people, but between
this country and Great Britain as well.

"If the president assumes that he alone must determine what subject of dispute must be submitted and congress must arbitrate a question affecting our foreign or domestic policy, then we have a home difficulty and a foreign
one at the same time.

"The treaty is not capable of self-
execution, and there must be legislation to carry it into execution. Congress must fix the term of the two arbitrators to be appointed on our part, and
also determine their compensation.
This cannot be done at this session of congress.

"The treaty ought to go over and be carefully examined by the committee
that has already prepared sundry amendments, and by the senate when
other matters are not pressing that body.
It is almost impossible at this late
period of the session to give a matter of this kind that serious attention which it requires. There can be no doubt that the great body of the people of the United States favor arbitration, but that fact does not remove the necessity
of care in the preparation of a treaty to carry out that idea. If the treaty is carelessly made and there is difficulty
in determining what ought to be submitted, or a feeling if after the treaty
goes into effect doubt should be aroused
as to the fairness of its operation, the people will be prejudiced against the principle of arbitration, so that instead
of promoting the cause of arbitration
we may destroy it by hasty action.

"Personally, I am in favor of arbitration of all questions that can be arbitrated, but this is no reason why I should join in ratifying a treaty that lacks the greatest essential of a treaty—certainty as to what it means. There is no threatened danger of war confronting us. We have no occasion for haste and nothing can be gained by premature action. When the treaty is put in proper form, as I hope it will be, it will be ratified. I regret that the agreement has not been considered in open senate so that the people could see the defects
in it."

A movement is on foot looking to the organization of county boards of health throughout the state. If they can be made of as much service to the public as the local boards there should be no delay in their formation.

The possibilities of a live newspaper were clearly shown by the Pittsburgh Post. Its plant and building a pile of ruins yesterday morning it appeared this morning, somewhat changed, but as silvery and as Bryany as ever.

The question of merit in council was never more in need of a thorough discussion than it is at present. The places to be filled next year should be filled by men who have the ability to fill them well, and it all depends on the voters.

Congress seems to be spending the time very pleasantly during these dying days of the Cleveland administration, and congress is not alone in its pleasure. The country at large views the approaching dissolution with no little satisfaction.

While there are some differences among Ohio leaders as to the senatorship, it can be stated as pure truth that the Republicans will stand shoulder to shoulder in the next campaign, and our Democratic friends will be whipped as cheerfully and as completely as they were ever whipped before.

IT CANT HURT HANNA.

The ridiculous charge that Major McKinley carried Ohio at the late election only because Mr. Hanna had concocted and carried out a series of fraudulent schemes that would put any other man in the penitentiary for the remainder of his days, will not hurt Mr. Hanna in his candidacy for the place to be filled in the senate by the next legislature. The brainy chairman was guilty of no fraud, and the people know it. John P. Altgeld gave the story birth at a banquet given in his honor at Chicago, and nothing has ever been produced to show that it was anything more than one of those silly vapors for which Altgeld has long been notorious. Those Democrats in this state who pretend to believe it know well that it is a lie of the plainest and simplest kind. They were here during the campaign and on election day, yet they had nothing to say until the Chicago pardoner gave them the cue. Had they known or even suspected, nay had they thought of it, the state would have rung with the libelous story long before it could have reached the ears of Altgeld. They themselves give it the lie by their silence until the present. Everybody in Ohio knows the campaign was honestly fought and the election legally conducted. Ohio did not want Bryan and it did want McKinley, and to attempt to prove that Mr. Hanna was guilty of fraud in the hope of injuring his chances for the senate is to show that the fool killer could find this time well occupied if he dropped into this state for a few days.

MARCH 4 IS NEAR.

Inauguration Day Is Just Two Weeks From Thursday.

ARRANGEMENTS ABOUT COMPLETE.

The Ball Expected to Be a Grand Affair. Indications That the Parade Will Be Immense—Decorations Promise to Be Unusually Attractive.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The arrangements for the inauguration of President-elect McKinley two weeks from next Thursday are rapidly nearing completion, and the indications are that in point of brilliancy and attractiveness the ceremonies, the decorations and the festivities incident to inauguration week will be more lavish than those of former years. In the decorations of the ballroom finer results are expected than ever before. All spectacular effects will be avoided and a more artistic and harmonious arrangement of flowers, lights and bunting will be secured. About $13,000 will be spent by the inaugural committee in decorating the main ball room and the private rooms set apart for the use of the presidential and vice presidential parties. The great height of the court of the pension building, where the ball will be held, will be overcome by bunting festooned from the center of each of the three divisions of the court to the top of the second gallery. The bare walls everywhere and all of the smaller pillars will be covered with bunting as a background for the flowers and greens, which will be the prominent features of the decorations.

The bunting and thousands of tiny electric light lamps will be used principally to bring out in greater relief the floral designs. The president and vice president with their families will attend the ball and will be in charge of a reception committee, of which Major General Nelson A. Miles is the chairman. The cost of tickets to the ball has been fixed at $5 for each person and $1 extra if supper is desired. In answer to many inquiries received at headquarters it may be stated that no invitations to the ball are necessary to secure tickets and none are issued except to foreign ministers. Tickets are now on sale and may be had by anyone at the price named. The promenade concert will consist of six selections and the dance programs contain 23 numbers. The ball will be held on Thursday night and in addition a series of five inaugural grand concerts will be given in the ballroom on the following Friday and Saturday. The ball decorations will remain in place. The first concert will be given at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning in honor of the United States army, represented by General Miles and staff.

At this concert the Republican Glee club of Columbus, O., will sing a number of patriotic airs. At 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon a concert will be given in honor of the United States navy, represented by Rear Admirals Walker and Ramsay, and at night the concert will be given in honor of the states of the union, represented by the governors of the states and their staffs. The concert Saturday afternoon will be in honor of congress, represented by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house. The last concert, Saturday night, will be in honor of the people of the United States and will consist of music by the Twenty-second regiment band and a chorus of 500 voices. Admission to each concert will be 50 cents.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Pennsylvania National Guard finds it impossible to attend the inauguration, the probabilities are that the parade will be very large. General Horace Porter of New York, with the members of his staff, is busy with the details of arranging the divisions. General Porter will act as grand marshal and will have as his chief of staff Mr. A. Noel Blakeman of New York city, Colonel M. C. Corbin of the United States army as adjutant general, and Captain John A. Johnston of the United States army as chief of aides, with Captain William Edward Horton of the D. C. N. G. special aid and military secretary.

The parade will be organized in two grand divisions, one civic and the other military. General Greenville M. Dodge will be chief marshal of the first grand division, to be composed of military organizations. He will have as his chief of staff General Heidekoper of New York, and Colonel Joseph P. Sanger of the United States army, adjutant general. This military grand division will be sub-divided into three separate divisions. The first division will be organized into two brigades, the first comprising United States troops as well as the naval battalions. This first brigade will be commanded by Major General Wesley Merritt of the United States army. The second brigade will be composed of the national guard of the District of Columbia, 1,500 strong, and the Washington High School cadets, 400 strong, all under the command of General Cecil Clay of the District of Columbia national guard.

The second division of the military grand division will be composed of the national guards of the various states, headed respectively by the governor and staff of each state and arranged in order from front to rear in the order in which the states entered the Union. The third division of the military grand division will be composed of all veteran organizations, including the Grand Army of the Republic, the Loyal Legion, the Medal of Honor Legion, the Union Veterans Union, the Union Veteran Legion, the Regular Army and Navy Union, etc. This third division will be commanded by General O. O. Howard of the United States army, General S. G. Burdette, past commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, as his chief of staff.

The civic grand division will be commanded by Mr. B. H. Warner of the city of Washington as chief marshal and will be made up of civic clubs of all descriptions. Prominent in this grand division will be the Republican National League of which Mr. D. D. Woodmanson of Cincinnati, its president, will act as marshal. It is estimated that there will be from 40,000 to 50,000 people in the parade, and in order to move so vast an army in the space of time allowed they will be so formed that they can be marched past a given point at the rate of 12,000 an hour. Conspicuous among the civic organizations will be the delegation of about 200 students from the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa. Governor Bushnell of Ohio will command a military division. The United States regular troops of the military grand division will be composed of one battalion of engineers from Willets Point, N. Y.; two regiments of infantry, the Seventeenth from Columbus barracks, and the Ninth from Sacketts Harbor, one regiment of cavalry, four troops from Fort Meyer and four from Fort Ethan Allen, 12 batteries of heavy artillery marching as infantry and two light batteries. The national guard of the states will be represented in the parade by several regiments and independent commands. A large number of separate companies also are expected to be present.

The parade will start from the east front of the Capitol and will march west along Pennsylvania avenue, past the president's reviewing stand in front of the White House, to Washington Circle, returning on K street to Mount Vernon square, where it will disband. The decorations of the city promise to be unusually attractive. The reviewing stands for the first time will be decorated by the inaugural committee, and will be in accordance with a general design furnished by the floral exchange of Philadelphia. The president's reviewing stand will be exceptionally fine, the design for it having been selected from a large number received in answer to an offer of a prize for the best. Colonel Wright of the public comfort committee reports that the applications for quarters are rapidly increasing, and every indication points to a large crowd. Nevertheless, Colonel Wright says there are good accommodations for all who may come, and at reasonable rates.

Teller Defends the Blockers of the Treaty.

TOO IMPORTANT TO RUSH THROUGH

He Says the Executive Department Spent Nearly Four Years Framing and Negotiating the Treaty—This Senate Should Also Be Deliberate—His Views.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senator Teller, when asked to furnish a statement of the reasons for seeking a postponement of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty, prepared the following article:

"There has been a good deal of criticism of the senate because it does not at once ratify the treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain by those who apparently forget that the executive department has been about four years negotiating it.

"By the constitution of the United States the senate is made a part of the treaty-making power. The fathers of the republic, jealous of the executive power, were not willing that the president should negotiate treaties alone, so they provided that the president 'shall have power by the advice and consent of the senate to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur.' The treaty, then, is the act of the president and the senate.

"It is quite apparent that it was not intended that the action of the senate should be a mere perfunctory duty and that the requirement of a two-thirds majority was inserted because the framers of the constitution were impressed with the importance of treaty making.

"The senate being a part of the power which creates treaties, it cannot rid itself of the responsibility of seeing that they are properly made. It is as incumbent upon us to give treaties consideration as upon the executive to do so. We heard no complaint of the delay on the part of the executive department, but no sooner did the treaty reach the senate than there was a demand for immediate action by the senate.

"The senate, being charged with this duty of advising in the construction of a treaty, cannot transfer that duty to the president or anyone else.

"The friends of the treaty in the senate all admit that it must be amended, and the committee on foreign relations has recommended certain amendments which will, without doubt, be adopted. But what will be the condition of the treaty if the friends of it do not agree as to the purpose of the proposed amendments?

"Some of them assert that each controverted question for consideration by the arbitrators must be acted on by the senate and the house of representatives before the question can go before the arbitration tribunal. If this view is correct we will be required to make a new treaty or agreement on each question as it arises, and have the assent, not of the senate alone, but of the house also, and instead of having removed causes of disagreement and friction between the two governments, it will be found we have multiplied the causes of dispute and delayed the determination of controverted questions.

"If the treaty does not require action on the part of congress, as some contend it does not, then we are leaving the question whether the subject of controversy shall be arbitrated or not to the president alone. It is true we put limitations of an indefinite character on the executive in providing that he must not arbitrate a question affecting our foreign or domestic policy, but if the president thinks such submission does not affect that policy he cannot be held responsible for his act if he makes a mistake.

"Why should we not make this treaty definite—exact? Why should we leave so important a question as to who has the power of submission on our part in doubt? If we attempt to submit a given question to arbitration through the agency of congress, and Great Britain thinks it ought to have been submitted through and by the president, we create friction not only among our own people, but between this country and Great Britain as well.

"If the president assumes that he alone must determine what subject of dispute must be submitted and congress assume jurisdiction of the matter, then we have a home difficulty and a foreign one at the same time.

"The treaty is not capable of self-execution, and there must be legislation to carry it into execution. Congress must fix the term of the two arbitrators to be appointed on our part, and also determine their compensation. This cannot be done at this session of congress.

"The treaty ought to go over and be carefully examined by the committee that has already prepared sundry amendments, and by the senate when other matters are not pressing that body. It is almost impossible at this late period of the session to give a matter of this kind that serious attention which it requires. There can be no doubt that the great body of the people of the United States favor arbitration, but that fact does not remove the necessity of care in the preparation of a treaty to carry out that idea. If the treaty is carelessly made and there is difficulty in determining what ought to be submitted, or a feeling if after the treaty goes into effect doubt should be aroused as to the fairness of its operation, the people will be prejudiced against the principle of arbitration, so that instead of promoting the cause of arbitration we may destroy it by hasty action.

"Personally, I am in favor of arbitration of all questions that can be arbitrated, but this is no reason why I should join in ratifying a treaty that lacks the greatest essential of a treaty—certainty as to what it means. There is no threatened danger of war confronting us. We have no occasion for haste and nothing can be gained by premature action. When the treaty is put in proper form, as I hope it will be, it can be ratified. If regret that the agreement has not been considered in open senate so that the people could see the defect in it."

MAY OCCUPY CRETE.

Probably the Object of the Greek Expedition.

SITUATION MORE COMPLICATED.

Christians Bombarded Canea, but Were Dislodged by the Turks—Christian Non-Combatants Seek Refuge on the Warships—A Scrimmage at Sea.

ATHENS, Feb. 15.—It is evident that the Grecian government has taken a serious step in sending troops to Crete for the purpose of protecting the Christians. A force consisting of a regiment of infantry, battery and artillery embarked at Piræus yesterday on board the three steamers. There was a scene of great enthusiasm before the departure of the troops. Crown Prince Constantine, the Duke of Sparta, reviewed the men and, addressing them, said: "Officers and men, remember where you are going, and that you are Hellenes."

The troops then marched past in the presence of the queen, the crown prince and an immense crowd. The crown prince with his staff was at the head of the men and the populace cheering. Similar scenes of enthusiasm were also witnessed during the embarkation of the soldiers. The arrival of the transports has already been reported from the island of Milo. The troops continued on their voyage immediately. It is rumored that they will virtually occupy the island without delay. All of the Grecian newspapers hail the departure of the troops with expressions of delight. There is much activity at the palace. King George personally directing the affairs connected with the crisis.

CANEA, Island of Crete, Feb. 15.—The Christians occupied the heights surrounding the town Sunday morning and began to bombard Canea. As soon as the firing commenced, Prince George Berovich, governor of Crete, with 30 recently enrolled Montenegrin gendarmes, boarded the Russian man-of-war. The Greek consul also embarked on board another vessel. The Turks from the fortress replied to the fire of the Christians. It is reported that the fighting was attended with bloodshed. The military governor has been removed from his post. The foreign consuls also embarked on board the various vessels lying off the town of Canea. The Greek consul at Meraklion went on board the Greek warship Naurachos Naulis. The Christians at Meraklion are also hurrying on board the ships. Fighting occurred around Malapa Saturday. After a brisk fusillade the Turks dislodged the Christians and occupied Akrotiri hills. The French consul was obliged to quit his country house at Malapa and return to his official residence at Canea.

As a result of the situation the ambassadors decided to commend to their respective governments that the powers occupy Candia, Retimo and Candia for the purpose of affording protection to the Mussulmans.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Times in an editorial warns Greece to the effect that that country must not think that it can count on the support of the powers to wage war. With her limited resources dependence upon the powers makes it necessary for her to prosecute the war, and she is not capable of sustaining a war alone. Had the Greek troops made a descent upon the city of Canea, The Times thinks it might have been impossible to prevent war.

As it is, the decision of the powers to accept responsibility, by their occupation of Canea, Retimo and Heraklion should induce Greece to countermand her military expedition. A dispatch to The Times from Constantinople says that the ambassadors admit that the situation is embarrassing because Greece forms a link between the Cretan and Macedonian difficulties, so that in whatever way Greece is treated, in the one, a counterbalancing is set up in the other.

In response to request from the editors of The Chronicle, asking him to send a message of hope to Greece, Mr. Gladstone has wired The Chronicle from Canea as follows:

"I dare not stimulate Greece when we cannot help her, but I shall profoundly rejoice in her success. I hope the powers will recollect they have their own character to redeem."

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—Emperor William drove to the residence of Prince Von Hohenlohe Sunday afternoon. He received a lengthy report from the chancellor, and afterward visited the ambassadors of Russia, Austria and England, all of whom later called at the foreign office.

Senator-Elect Mason Overcome. CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—United States Senator-elect William E. Mason was overcome from nervous excitement and fell in a fainting fit while engaged in a conversation in his parlor with Mr. Orendorf of Canton, Ill. The senator was standing at the time. Without any warning he sank to the floor unconscious. Mr. Mason later started for New Orleans.

Six Miners Killed. GOUVERNEUR, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Six of the eight men who were in the Freeman mine at the time of the cave-in were killed. The other two escaped without injury. William Dawley, Fred McCoy, M. Louchlan, Charles Larock, A. T. Terton and John Matthews were the unfortunate. Each left large families.

End of Session Drawing Near. WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—In two weeks from Thursday the present congress expires by limitation and from this time forward all things legislative will have to give way to the appropriation bills, which must be passed before the final adjournment.

General Weyler's Movements. HAVANA, Feb. 15.—Captain General Weyler continues to move eastward with Generals Prats, Gasco and Ruiz, and Colonels Albergot, Rubin and Maroto.

Modjeska Is Better. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—The condition of Mme. Modjeska is greatly improved.

MCKINLEY WILL REST.

He is going to Cleveland For Awhile, Probably Today.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—It is not definitely known whether President-elect McKinley will start for Cleveland today or delay his visit to that city for a day or two. But it is apparent to his friends that he should take a rest and seek relief from the strain of receiving the army of visitors constantly besieging his home. He has held up remarkably well under the overtax that has been placed upon him since the election and always gave the visitors cordial and hearty welcome. It is understood that he will be away for at least a part of the time this week. Definite plans have not been yet announced. Sunday the major received scarcely any visitors. He has always been averse to attending to business matters on Sunday.

Congressman D. K. Watson of Columbus and C. A. Chickering of New York, who were late callers Saturday night, accepted an invitation to accompany the major to church Sunday morning, and the First Presbyterian services were attended. Besides this, the major left the house for a call on his mother and a drive with Mrs. McKinley.

The remainder of the day was spent at the house with Mrs. McKinley and in reading.

Old Couple Abused by Robbers. OBERLIN, O., Feb. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Powers have been terribly abused by robbers, who got but a small amount of money. Mrs. Powers succeeded in giving the alarm after daylight. The burglars made their escape on a handcar stolen from a Lake Shore flaghouse. Mr. and Mrs. Powers, who are both over 80 years old, were fearfully shocked, but received no serious injuries. Several years ago over $1,000 in government bonds were stolen from Mrs. Powers' father, who lives in the same house.

Shot While in Bed. SANDUSKY, O., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Addison Deck has been arrested on the charge of shooting Victor Mankins, the woman using her victim's revolver. He entertained the idea that his wound would not prove fatal, and as he gradually grew weaker he at last told all he knew about the case. Mrs. Deck shot him as he lay in bed, the bullet entering the chest, above the heart. The shooting was the result of a quarrel. Mankins' condition is critical.

Ohioan Probably Held by Spaniards. CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—A news dispatch announces that the Spanish authorities at Regia have arrested Charles Scott, an American. The prisoner is presumed to be Oliver Ream, of this city, who has traveled under that name for several years and from whom relatives can receive no communication. J. H. Ream, the father, feels certain that the prisoner is his own son.

Massillon Strike Ended. MASSILLON, Feb. 15.—Representatives of the 3,000 coal miners in this district met here Saturday and decided to accept the rate of 51 cents a ton for mining. This action ends the strike which began on Jan. 1. The miners are not pleased with the action, but are willing to accept the rate because many of them have been reduced to destitution by the strike.

Prominent Man Arrested. CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—H. J. Snider, president of the Louis Snider Paper company, has been arrested at the instance of M. A. Maguire, trunk manufacturer, who also brought suit against him and W. D. Carrison, the former secretary of the company, upon a note for $2,500. The criminal charge was obtaining money under false pretenses.

His Skull Fractured. PORTSMOUTH, O., Feb. 15.—William Crenshaw, a blacksmith, had his skull fractured Saturday by a singular accident. He had a 42-pound rock fastened to his bellows as a counter weight. The fastening broke and the stone struck Crenshaw squarely on the head. He was unconscious for two hours in the shop before being discovered.

Decided Not to Strike. TOLEDO, Feb. 15.—The streetcar employees have decided not to go on strike for the present. Resolutions were adopted calling on all labor unions to enter protests against the reduction of wages, also to urge the passage of a law for municipal ownership of street railways.

Sent to London. CINCINNATI, Feb. 13.—H. P. Hathaway has been sent to London, England, by President M. E. Ingalls as the general agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, the Chesapeake and Ohio Steamship company and the Kanawha Dispatch.

Cutting Wages at Steelton. HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—Notice of 10 per cent reduction has been posted at the works of the Pennsylvania Steel company, to take effect March 1. The reduction affects about 3,000 employees. President E. C. Felton said that he hoped the conditions would soon improve so as to warrant a restoration of the old wages. The reduction is one of the results of the collapse of the steel rail pool.

General Gomez's Edict. HAVANA, Feb. 15.—General Gomez has issued an edict to the insurgent chiefs ordering them to operate only on critical occasions until March 15, when the winter, or dry season, commences. They can then prove to the new government at Washington the strength of the revolution.

MAY OCCUPY CRETE.

Probably the Object of the Greek Expedition.

SITUATION MORE COMPLICATED.

Christians Bombarded Canea, but Were Dislodged by the Turks—Christian Non-Combatants Seek Refuge on the Warships—A Scrimmage at Sea.

ATHENS, Feb. 15.—It is evident that the Grecian government has taken a serious step in sending troops to Crete for the purpose of protecting the Christians. A force consisting of a regiment of infantry, battery and artillery embarked at Piræus yesterday on board the three steamers. There was a scene of great enthusiasm before the departure of the troops. Crown Prince Constantine, the Duke of Sparta, reviewed the men and, addressing them, said: "Officers and men, remember where you are going, and that you are Hel-

lens." The troops then marched past in the presence of the queen, the crown prince and an immense crowd. The crown prince with his staff was at the head of the men and the populace cheering. Similar scenes of enthusiasm were also witnessed during the embarkation of the soldiers. The arrival of the transports has already been reported from the island of Milo. The troops continued on their voyage immediately. It is rumored that they will virtually occupy the island without delay. All of the Grecian newspapers hail the departure of the troops with expressions of delight. There is much activity at the palace. King George personally directing the affairs connected with the crisis.

CANEA, Island of Crete, Feb. 15.—The Christians occupied the heights surrounding the town Sunday morning and began to bombard Canea. As soon as the firing commenced, Prince George Berovich, governor of Crete, with 30 recently enrolled Montenegrin gendarmes, boarded the Russian man-of-war. The Greek consul also embarked on board another vessel. The Turks from the fortress replied to the fire of the Christians. It is reported that the fighting was attended with bloodshed. The military governor has been removed from his post. The foreign consuls also embarked on board the various vessels lying off the town of Canea. The Greek consul at Meraklion went on board the Greek warship Nautilus. The Christians at Meraklion are also hurrying on board the ships. Fighting occurred around Malepa Saturday. After a brisk fusillade the Turks dislodged the Christians and occupied Akrotiri hills. The French consul was obliged to quit his country house at Malepa and return to his official residence at Canea.

As a result of the situation the ambassadors decided to commend to their respective governments that the powers occupy Canea, Retimo and Candia for the purpose of affording protection to the Mussulmans.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Times in an editorial warns Greece to the effect that that country must not think that it can count on the support of the powers to wage war. With her limited resources dependence upon the powers makes it necessary for her to prosecute the war, and she is not capable of sustaining war alone. Had the Greek troops made a descent upon the city of Canea, The Times thinks it might have been impossible to prevent war.

As it is, the decision of the powers to accept responsibility, by their occupation of Canea, Retimo and Heraklion should induce Greece to countermand her military expedition. A dispatch to The Times from Constantinople says that the ambassadors admit that the situation is embarrassing because Greece forms a link between the Cretian and Macedonian difficulties, so that in whatever way Greece is treated, in the one, a counterblast is set up in the other.

In response to request from the editors of The Chronicle, asking him to send a message of hope to Greece, Mr. Gladstone has wired The Chronicle from Canea as follows:

"I dare not stimulate Greece when we cannot help her, but I shall profoundly rejoice in her success. I hope the powers will recollect they have their own character to redeem."

Berlin, Feb. 15.—Emperor William drove to the residence of Prince Von Hohenlohe Sunday afternoon. He received a lengthy report from the chancellor, and afterward visited the ambassadors of Russia, Austria and England, all of whom later called at the foreign office.

Senator-Elect Mason Overcome.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—United States Senator-elect William E. Mason was overcome from nervous excitement and fell in a fainting fit while engaged in a conversation in his parlor with Mr. Orendorf of Canton, Ill. The senator was standing at the time. Without any warning he sank to the floor unconscious. Mr. Mason later started for New Orleans.

Six Miners Killed.

GOVERNOR, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Six of the eight men who were in the Freeman mine at the time of the cavein were killed. The other two escaped without injury. William Dawley, Fred McCoy, M. Louchlan, Charles Larock, A. Tet-jerton and John Matthews were the unfortunate. Each left large families.

End of Session Drawing Near.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—In two weeks from Thursday the present congress expires by limitation and from this time forward all things legislative will have to give way to the appropriation bills, which must be passed before the final adjournment.

General Weyler's Movements.

Modjeska Is Better.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—The condition of Mme. Modjeska is greatly improved.

MCKINLEY WILL REST.

He Is Going to Cleveland For Awhile, Probably Today.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—It is not definitely known whether President-elect McKinley will start for Cleveland today or delay his visit to that city for a day or two. But it is apparent to his friends that he should take a rest and seek relief from the strain of receiving the army of visitors constantly besieging his home. He has held up remarkably well under the overtax that has been placed upon him since the election and always gave the visitors cordial and hearty welcome. It is understood that he will be away for at least a part of the time this week. Definite plans have not been yet announced. Sunday the major received scarcely any visitors. He has always been averse to attending to business matters on Sunday. Congressman D. K. Watson of Columbus and C. A. Chickering of New York, who were late callers Saturday night, accepted an invitation to accompany the major to church Sunday morning, and the First Presbyterian services were attended. Besides this, the major left the house for a call on his mother and a drive with Mrs. McKinley.

The remainder of the day was spent at the house with Mrs. McKinley and in reading.

Old Couple Abused by Robbers.

OHIO, O., Feb. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Powers have been terribly abused by robbers, who got but a small amount of money. Mrs. Powers succeeded in giving the alarm after daylight. The burglars made their escape on a handcar stolen from a Lake Shore flaghouse. Mr. and Mrs. Powers, who are both over 80 years old, were fearfully shocked, but received no serious injuries. Several years ago over $1,000 in government bonds were stolen from Mrs. Powers' father, who lives in the same house.

Shot While in Bed.

SANDUSKY, O., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Addison Deck has been arrested on the charge of shooting Victor Mankins, the woman using her victim's revolver. He would not prove fatal, and as he gradually grew weaker he at last told all he knew about the case. Mrs. Deck shot him as he lay in bed, the bullet entering the chest, above the heart. The shooting was one result of a quarrel. Mankins' condition is critical.

Ohioan Probably Held by Spaniards.

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—A news dispatch announces that the Spanish authorities at Regla have arrested Charles Scott, an American. The prisoner is presumed to be Oliver Ream, of this city, who has traveled under that name for several years and from whom relatives can receive no communication. J. H. Ream, the father, feels certain that the prisoner is his own son.

Massillon Strike Ended.

MASSILLON, Feb. 15.—Representatives of the 3,000 coal miners in this district met here Saturday and decided to accept the rate of 51 cents a ton for mining. This action ends the strike which began on Jan. 1. The miners are not pleased with the action, but are willing to accept the rate because many of them have been reduced to destitution by the strike.

Prominent Man Arrested.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—H. J. Snider, president of the Louis Snider Paper company, has been arrested at the instance of M. A. Maguire, trunk manufacturer, who also brought suit against him and W. D. Garrison, the former secretary of the company, upon a note for $2,500. The criminal charge was obtaining money under false pretenses.

His Skull Fractured.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Feb. 15.—William Crenshaw, a blacksmith, had his skull fractured Saturday by a singular accident. He had a 42-pound rock fastened to his bellows as a counter weight. The fastening broke and the stone struck Crenshaw squarely on the head. He was unconscious for two hours in the shop before being discovered.

Decided Not to Strike.

TOLEDO, Feb. 15.—The streetcar employees have decided not to go on strike for the present. Resolutions were adopted calling on all labor unions to enter protests against the reduction of wages, also to urge the passage of a law for municipal ownership of street railways.

Sent to London.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13.—H. P. Hathaway has been sent to London, England, by President M. E. Ingalls as the general agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, the Chesapeake and Ohio Steamship company and the Kanawha Dispatch.

Cutting Wages at Steelton.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—Notice of 10 per cent reduction has been posted at the works of the Pennsylvania Steel company, to take effect March 1. The reduction affects about 3,000 employees. President E. C. Felton said that he hoped the conditions would soon improve so as to warrant a restoration of the old wages. The reduction is one of the results of the collapse of the steel rail pool.

THE KRANTZ-BURGESS CASE

How the Deal Was Made—That Note—Not Tried in Trenton—Something About Those Letters—The Basis of Settlement. A Peculiar Explanation.

Much has been published concerning the Krantz-Burgess case, but the facts have not been given to the people of this city. The following statement is from W. B. Hill, attorney for Mr. Krantz.

Gottfried Krantz sold a farm in Morrisville, Pa., to Clara D. Burgess for $3,500. She paid $1,500 in cash, and a note for $2,000. Krantz sold the note to his wife, and when it was due it was allowed to go to protest. Mrs. Krantz sued Mrs. Burgess in Doylestown for the amount. The defense of Mrs. Burgess was that Krantz had sold her husband a recipe for making liquid gold, consideration $1,000, the amount being included in the note, and it was worthless. He claimed there was no consideration in the transfer of the note from Krantz to his wife. Krantz claimed the recipe was not in the sale, but was given as a present. It was set for trial last November, but was continued at Burgess' cost until last week. Burgess offered to settle for $1,000, but Krantz refused. A settlement was made by Mrs. Krantz and Mrs. Burgess by which the latter paid her $1,600 in gold and the costs in the case. The compromise was made because Mr. and Mrs. Krantz wanted to go to Germany.

When the farm was sold Burgess gave Krantz a check for $120 for liquid gold, and it was returned to him protested. Krantz met Burgess in Trenton and threatened to whip him if it was not paid. He was arrested and bound over to keep the peace.

A local paper in dealing with the matter made error after error, calling Burgess the plaintiff and again questioning Krantz's right to the land. The statement that Krantz was arrested for sending threatening letters through the mails was equally ridiculous with that of the trial being held in Trenton. The alleged explanation published on Saturday was as dense as everything the paper has published about the case, and Mr. Krantz said it contained no truth.

TOOK UP THE THREAD

Where Illness Had Compelled Reverend Bower to Drop It.

Reverend Bower, taken sick while his meeting was in progress lately, left undone what he would have done had not the circumstances prevented him. Last evening he took it up where he was interrupted, and delivered his prepared sermon on the subject of "Heaven." He handled his subject in a very beautiful manner, and it was most impressive. It is understood that the meetings which were discontinued in his church will be resumed some time in the near future. The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Christian church will give one of their famous suppers next Monday in the church.

GOT THE BOY.

Officers Went to Liverpool and Made an Arrest.

Officers Morgan and Cohagen went to East Liverpool early Sunday morning, and arrested John Garley on a charge of stealing pigeons. They secured the aid of the Liverpool police, and awakening the Garley household demanded that the door be opened. They were denied admission, but Officer Morgan pounded vigorously and the door opened. The boy was secured, and brought to Wellsville. He was locked up, and held with Charley and Warren Willison until the other parties concerned in the theft are arrested.

LAYING HEAVY RAILS.

A Big Force Started to Work at Yellow Creek.

A force of 50 men this morning began to replace the rails on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh, between Yellow Creek and Hammondsville, with 90 pound steel. The work will only require a short time, as it is the intention of the company to have it done in a short time. It is said that many improvements will be made on the line during the coming summer, and not the least expensive will be the laying of the heavy rail.

AN ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

It Instructed the Asbury Brotherhood Yesterday Afternoon.

The Asbury Brotherhood met at their usual place of meeting Sunday afternoon, and an unusually large number were in attendance. An illustrated lecture by C. E. Cornell, of Cleveland, was a very pleasant feature, and Presiding Elder Johnson, of Steubenville, made them a good sensible talk, full of reason and logic. The singing by the choir was exceptionally good.

EAST LIVERPOOL BOYS

Are Suspected of Robbery In New Cumberland.

ENTERED A HARDWARE STORE

Over $200 In Knives, Razors and Revolvers Were Taken—Circumstances Are Against the Guilty Parties, but No Arrests Have Yet Been Made.

East Liverpool talent, it is believed, braved the dogs on guard at a Cumberland hardware store, and breaking open the door helped itself to $200 in knives and revolvers, escaping without disturbing the town, but leaving a clew or two which may result in arrests.

The thieves attacked a side door at the Bendure store, and were making very good progress when scared away by dogs. In a short time they returned, and breaking open the front door, helped themselves. A number of revolvers, knives and razors were taken, and the burglars escaped. No clue was found until yesterday when developments caused the belief that the job was the work of East Liverpool parties. The evidence was strong against them, but no arrests were made today. It is claimed that there is sufficient evidence at hand to warrant an arrest, and if the authorities can find the suspected parties it is probable they will be called to answer for the crime. They were seen in Cumberland the day of the robbery.

WHY IT WAS HOT.

The Hash, Epicure's Initial Experience With a Chafing Dish.

"I had heard of chafing dishes for years," said Smiley Williams, "but the one I saw for the first time floored me completely.

"I never thought much about the blamed things, but somehow I supposed a chafing dish was some sort of concern that they grated things in—something that rubbed together and mashed things.

"The other night, though, Bolton and I went into a Madison street restaurant for dinner. You know I always have a sneaking liking for hash of any kind, and so does Bolton. Bolton ordered turkey hash for two, and the waiter brought it on in a swell sort of silver dish nearly as tall as a cake basket. It had a tight cover, and when we opened it it steamed like a 40 horsepower boiler blowing off.

"I loaded up Bolton's plate, and in the first pass at it he took the skin off his tongue, it was so hot.

"Just like these infernal places," Bolton growled. "Anything you've got to eat is blistering hot, while coffee is always stone cold."

"After awhile Bolton took some more hash and burned his tongue again.

"Holy Moses," he said, "what's got into that hash?"

"I told him nobody was expected to know anything about restaurant hash, especially the fellow who was eating it, but he wasn't satisfied.

"Well, we kept on eating hash until we had enough. And do you know that hash left in the dish was hotter than it was at the start?"

"Well," said Bolton, "I wouldn't have believed my eyes, but with most of the skin off my tongue I've got to give it up." Then he called the waiter.

"Say," he said, in a low tone, "I'll give you a quarter if you'll tell me what in blazes is the matter with that hash."

"Beg pardon, sah?"

"What keeps that hash so all fired hot?"

"Why, sah, that's a chafing dish, sah!"

"That's how I found out that a chafing dish is a silver fruit stand with a fire built under it."—Chicago Record.

SPEAKING TO THE DEAF.

A Mistake Is Often Made In Trying to Enunciate Very Plainly.

Many people, and I am sorry to say some teachers of the deaf, fail to realize—in practice at least—that speech is not as easily visible to the eye as it is audible to the ear, and think that by speaking slowly, word by word, and opening their mouths to the widest extent, they will render the task of the speech reader easier. As a matter of fact they render it all the more difficult. A child in school may learn to understand a teacher who mouths his words in this manner, but this ability is of no value to him when he leaves school. Indeed, perfectly natural, deliberate speech is easier to understand than the exaggerated form of articulation which people are apt to use the moment they know they are talking to a totally deaf person.

People who depend entirely upon their speech reading for understanding others have requested me, when introducing them to strangers, not to say that they were deaf, because they find it easier to read the lips when the person speaking is not aware that he is being understood in that way. I have in my acquaintance a young man educated wholly by this method who travels a great deal and picks up acquaintances on the steamers or on the train just as people do who possess all their faculties.

I have in mind also a congenitally deaf girl of 14 who is not considered unusually bright, yet whose speech is clearly intelligible to strangers after the first ten minutes, who is intelligent on the topics of the day, and whose larger and more conversational repertory is much larger and more entertaining than that of many young ladies of 20 and over that I have met in metropolitan society.—John Dutton Wright in Century.

All the news in the News Review.

The Modern Babel.

Professor Mahaffy, in The Nineteenth Century, explains how French might have been the international medium of language, but how commerce in a certain way has changed all this:

If the old French monarchy and aristocracy had not been swept away by the terrible revolution, if France had not ruined her primacy in courtliness and had not for a time become the dread and the horror of all Europe, it is quite possible that French might have become the exclusive international medium. But the mercantile preponderance of England and the national antagonism of Germany raised up rivals to her supremacy. And since the assertion of nationality was identified with the speaking of a special language all hope of any agreement has disappeared.

When I was young, it was fairly assumed that a working knowledge of English, French and German would open to the student all the stores of European learning. Nothing can now be further from the truth. Not only are there scientific and literary works of international importance—I exclude mere poetry and small talk—in Italian and Greek, and far more in Dutch, but there are mines of knowledge only to be reached by acquiring Russian and Hungarian. I am told that the geological and zoological observations over the huge area of Asiatic Russia are now published in Russian Transactions. I know that the most interesting reports on Hungarian social and political questions are now in Hungarian yellow books.

Uses of Aluminum.

It is claimed that aluminum plates are destined to become the universal material for lithographic printing, which means a revolution in the lithographic art. Of all the metals that have been tried besides aluminum, says The Aluminum World, to replace the cumbersome lithographic stone, zinc is the only metal which has given any satisfaction, but it was found that zinc could not be depended upon. To insure good work the zinc plates must be absolutely pure, and even then many colors cannot be printed from zinc with safety. Aluminum has been proved to be as good as stone. The metal approaches the physical properties of lithographic stone from its ability to absorb fats or slimy substances.

Racing skates are now made of aluminum, affording at the same time exceptional strength and lightness, a pair weighing only 24 ounces.

Aluminum articles for the toilet are now made in great variety, among other things combs, razor handles and hairpins.

Pens made of an aluminum alloy, it is claimed, write easily and do not rust.

A company has put on the market aluminum guitars, banjos, mandolins and lutas. The instruments are made out of one piece of sheet aluminum pressed into shape. They are satin finished, and not only make a beautiful looking instrument, but give a rich tone.

The Capitalist.

The word "capitalist" is simply another word for the man who saves and who finds out what the public will buy. This faculty for saving and for finding out what the public wants is a rare faculty. It is so rare that 95 per cent of men in business—that is, of men who employ others—fail. They fail through their incapacity or want of diligence. Only an infinitesimally small number of them achieve fortune. They may be called the explorers of the race. We profit by their errors. For one who invents a sewing machine or a telephone, 10,000 lapse into poverty. Nothing requires a more delicate combination of qualities than the creation and conduct of a great business. The conditions of success are often too minute for observation. The life is full of terrible anxieties, especially in what is called "hard times," when money is difficult to get. The penalty of failure is tremendous, and yet the number of us who are ready to tell the capitalist how to carry on his business, how to pay his men, whom to employ, and on what terms, is very large. If those who can carry on business themselves were only one-thousandth part as numerous as those who can tell how it ought to be carried on by others, the happiness of man would be well assured.—E. L. Godkin in Atlantic Monthly.

The Cocktail.

The invention of that American institution the cocktail is now credited to the medical profession. The old doctors, it seems, had a habit of treating certain diseases of the throat with a liquid mixture applied with the tip of a long feather plucked from a cock's tail. In time this liquid came to be used as a gargle, the name of "cocktail," however, still clinging to it. In the course of further evolution the gargle became a mixture of bitters, vermouth and other appetizers and finally developed into the beverage so highly esteemed by the patrons of American bars.

BUTCHERED NON-COMBATANTS.

A Spanish Commander in Cuba Reported a Victory.

KEY WEST, Feb. 15.—A letter from Matanzas tells of the cruel butchery of a camp of pacifists by a band of Spanish guerrillas under Major Consartes. The pacifists were encamped near a lake 10 miles south of Matanzas. They were afraid to come into the city because smallpox and other diseases were so prevalent.

Major Consartes was sent to bring them in. Surrounding the camp, he and his soldiers burst in upon them with wild yells, shooting as they advanced. Five fell at the first fire, two being women. The others, scarcely knowing what to do, dashed into the shallow waters of the lake, endeavoring to hide under the leaves of the lily pads and plants. The Spanish troops selected their human targets and coolly began shooting at them, killing at every shot.

The screams and agonized entreaties of the poor frenzied wretches were terrible. Some soldiers threw down their guns and refused to fire. The offers of money to surrender were received with shouts of derision and the butchery only ceased when not a head was visible. Major Consartes' official report stated that his detachment had been attacked at the lake and they killed ten insurgents in the fight that followed. Twenty pacifist men, women and children, were killed.

GOT THE BOY.

Officers Morgan and Cohagen went to East Liverpool early Sunday morning, and arrested John Garley on a charge of stealing pigeons. They secured the aid of the Liverpool police, and awakening the Garley household demanded that the door be opened. They were denied admission, but Officer Morgan pounded vigorously and the door opened. The boy was secured, and brought to Wellsville. He was locked up, and held with Charley and Warren Willison until the other parties concerned in the theft are arrested.

LAYING HEAVY RAILS.

A Big Force Started to Work at Yellow Creek. A force of 50 men this morning began to replace the rails on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh, between Yellow Creek and Hammondsville, with 90 pound steel. The work will only require a short time, as it is the intention of the company to have it done in a short time. It is said that many improvements will be made on the line during the coming summer, and not the least expensive will be the laying of the heavy rail.

AN ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

It Instructed the Asbury Brotherhood Yesterday Afternoon.

The Asbury Brotherhood met at their usual place of meeting Sunday afternoon, and an unusually large number were in attendance. An illustrated lecture by C. E. Cornell, of Cleveland, was a very pleasant feature, and Presiding Elder Johnson, of Steubenville, made them a good sensible talk, full of reason and logic. The singing by the choir was exceptionally good.

Are Suspected of Robbery in New Cumberland.

ENTERED A HARDWARE STORE

Over $200 in Knives, Razors and Revolvers Were Taken—Circumstances Are Against the Guilty Parties, but No Arrests Have Yet Been Made.

East Liverpool talent, it is believed, braved the dogs on guard at a Cumberland hardware store, and breaking open the door helped itself to $200 in knives and revolvers, escaping without disturbing the town, but leaving a clew or two which may result in arrests.

The thieves attacked a side door at the Bendure store, and were making very good progress when scared away by dogs. In a short time they returned, and breaking open the front door, helped themselves. A number of revolvers, knives and razors were taken, and the burglars escaped. No clue was found until yesterday when developments caused the belief that the job was the work of East Liverpool parties. The evidence was strong against them, but no arrests were made today. It is claimed that there is sufficient evidence at hand to warrant an arrest, and if the authorities can find the suspected parties it is probable they will be called to answer for the crime. They were seen in Cumberland the day of the robbery.

WHY IT WAS HOT.

The Hash Epicure's Initial Experience With a Chafing Dish.

"I never thought much about the blamed things, but somehow I supposed a chafing dish was some sort of concern that they grated things in—something that rubbed together and mashed things."

"The other night, though, Bolton and I went into a Madison street restaurant for dinner. You know I always have a sneaking liking for hash of any kind, and so does Bolton. Bolton ordered turkey hash for two, and the waiter brought it on in a swell sort of silver dish nearly as tall as a cake basket. It had a tight cover, and when we opened it it steamed like a 40 horsepower boiler blowing off."

"I loaded up Bolton's plate, and in the first pass at it he took the skin off his tongue, it was so hot."

"Just like these infernal places," Bolton growled. "Anything you've got to eat is blistering hot, while coffee is always stone cold."

"After awhile Bolton took some more hash and burned his tongue again."

"'Holy Moses,' he said, 'what's got into that hash?'"

"I told him nobody was expected to know anything about restaurant hash especially the fellow who was eating it, but he wasn't satisfied."

"Well, we kept on eating hash until we had enough. And do you know that hash left in the dish was hotter than it was at the start?"

"Well," said Bolton, "I wouldn't have believed my eyes, but with most of the skin off my tongue I've got to give it up." Then he called the waiter.

"Say," he said, in a low tone, "I'll give you a quarter if you'll tell me what in blazes is the matter with that hash."

"'Beg pardon, sah?'"

"What keeps that hash so all fired hot?"

"Why, sah, that's a chafing dish, sah!"

"That's how I found out that a chafing dish is a silver fruit stand with a fire built under it."—Chicago Record.

SPEAKING TO THE DEAF.

A Mistake Is Often Made in Trying to Enunciate Very Plainly.

Many people, and I am sorry to say some teachers of the deaf, fail to realize—in practice at least—that speech is not as clearly visible to the eye as it is audible to the ear, and think that by speaking slowly, word by word, and opening their mouths to the widest extent, they will render the task of the speech reader easier. As a matter of fact they render it all the more difficult. A child in school may learn to understand a teacher who mouths his words in this manner, but this ability is of no value to him when he leaves school. Indeed perfectly natural, deliberate speech is easier to understand than the exaggerated form of articulation which people are apt to use the moment they know they are talking to a totally deaf person.

People who depend entirely upon their speech reading for understanding others have requested me, when introducing them to strangers, not to say that they were deaf, because they find it easier to read the lips when the person speaking is not aware that he is being understood in that way. I have in my acquaintance a young man educated wholly by this method who travels a great deal and picks up acquaintances on the steamer or on the train just as people do who possess all their faculties.

I have in mind also a congenitally deaf girl of 14 who is not considered unusually bright, yet whose speech is clearly intelligible to strangers after the first ten minutes, who is intelligent on the topics of the day, and whose larger and more conversational repertory is much larger and more entertaining than that of many young ladies of 20 and over that I have met in metropolitan society.—John Dutton Wright in Century.

He Sometimes Escapes.

Preacher—And do you always say your prayers at night?

Johnny—Not always. When pa don't come home to supper, ma gets so excited and tears around so that she forgets, and I sneak off to bed without sayin' 'em.—Cleveland Leader.

The Modern Babel.

Professor Mahaffy, in The Nineteenth Century, explains how French might have been the international medium of language, but how commerce in a certain way has changed all this:

If the old French monarchy and aristocracy had not been swept away by the terrible revolution, if France had not ruined her primacy in courtliness and had not for a time become the dread and the horror of all Europe, it is quite possible that French might have become the exclusive international medium. But the mercantile preponderance of England and the national antagonism of Germany raised up rivals to her supremacy. And since the assertion of nationality was identified with the speaking of a special language all hope of any agreement has disappeared. When I was young, it was fairly assumed that a working knowledge of English, French and German would open to the student all the stores of European learning. Nothing can now be further from the truth. Not only are there scientific and literary works of international importance—I exclude mere poetry and small talk—in Italian and Greek, and far more in Dutch, but there are mines of knowledge only to be reached by acquiring Russian and Hungarian. I am told that the geological and zoological observations over the huge area of Asiatic Russia are now published in Russian Transactions. I know that the most interesting reports on Hungarian social and political questions are now in Hungarian yellow books.

Uses of Aluminum.

It is claimed that aluminum plates are destined to become the universal material for lithographic printing, which means a revolution in the lithographic art. Of all the metals that have been tried besides aluminum, says The Aluminum World, to replace the cumbersome lithographic stone, zinc is the only metal which has given any satisfaction, but it was found that zinc could not be depended upon. To insure good work the zinc plates must be absolutely pure, and even then many colors cannot be printed from zinc with safety. Aluminum has been proved to be as good as stone. The metal approaches the physical properties of lithographic stone from its ability to absorb fats or silny substances.

Racing skates are now made of aluminum, affording at the same time exceptional strength and lightness, a pair weighing only 24 ounces.

Aluminum articles for the toilet are now made in great variety, among other things combs, razor handles and hairpins.

Pens made of an aluminum alloy, it is claimed, write easily and do not rust.

A company has put on the market aluminum guitars, banjos, mandolins and lutas. The instruments are made out of one piece of sheet aluminum pressed into shape. They are satin finished, and not only make a beautiful looking instrument, but give a rich tone.

The Capitalist.

The word "capitalist" is simply another word for the man who saves and who finds out what the public will buy. This faculty for saving and for finding out what the public wants is a rare faculty. It is so rare that I believe reliable statistics prove that 95 per cent of men in business—that is, of men who employ others—fail. They fail through their incapacity or want of diligence. Only an infinitesimally small number of them achieve fortune. They may be called the explorers of the race. We profit by their errors. For one who invents a sewing machine or a telephone 10,000 lapse into poverty. Nothing requires a more delicate combination of qualities than the creation and conduct of a great business. The conditions of success are often too minute for observation. The life is full of terrible anxieties, especially in what is called "hard times," when money is difficult to get. The penalty of failure is tremendous, and yet the number of us who are ready to tell the capitalist how to carry on his business, how to pay his men, whom to employ, and on what terms, is very large. If those who can carry on business themselves were only one-thousandth part as numerous as those who can tell how it ought to be carried on by others, the happiness of man would be well assured.—E. L. Godkin in Atlantic Monthly.

The Cocktail.

The invention of that American institution the cocktail is now credited to the medical profession. The old doctors, it seems, had a habit of treating certain diseases of the throat with a liquid mixture applied with the tip of a long feather plucked from a cock's tail. In time this liquid came to be used as a gargle, the name of "cocktail," however, still clinging to it. In the course of further evolution the gargle became a mixture of bitters, vermouth and other appetizers and finally developed into the beverage so highly esteemed by the patrons of American bars.

BUTCHERED NON-COMBATANTS.

A Spanish Commander in Cuba Reported a Victory.

KEY WEST, Feb. 15.—A letter from Matanzas tells of the cruel butchery of a camp of pacifics by a band of Spanish guerrillas under Major Consartes. The pacifics were encamped near a lake 10 miles south of Matanzas. They were afraid to come into the city because smallpox and other diseases were so prevalent.

Major Consartes was sent to bring them in. Surrounding the camp, his soldiers burst in upon them with wild yells, shooting as they advanced. Five of the first fire, two being women. The others, scarcely knowing what to do, dashed into the shallow waters of the lake, endeavoring to hide under the leaves of the lily pads and plants. The Spanish troops selected their human targets and coolly began shooting at them, killing at every shot.

The screams and agonized entreaties of the poor frenzied wretches were terrible. Some soldiers threw down their guns and refused to fire. The officers of the Cuban army were received with shouts of derision and the butchery only ceased when not a head was visible. Major Consartes' official report stated that his detachment had been attacked at the lake and they killed ten insurgents in the fight that followed. Twenty pacifics, men, women and children, were killed.
